

A photograph of four ceramic mugs arranged in a row on a light grey surface against a white background. Each mug features a unique abstract, marbled design. From left to right: the first mug has a design in shades of brown and tan; the second mug has a design in shades of blue and white; the third mug has a design in shades of grey, blue, and tan; and the fourth mug has a design in shades of yellow and tan. The designs are fluid and organic, resembling natural stone or liquid marbling.

