The glass jar is a clear, cylindrical container with a matching lid. Both the jar and the lid are adorned with a complex, symmetrical cut glass pattern. The pattern consists of a central circular motif surrounded by a series of concentric rings and radial lines, creating a starburst or sunburst effect. The jar is placed on a light-colored, textured surface, possibly sand or a soft fabric. In the background, there are large, smooth, light-brown rocks and a clear blue sky. The lighting is bright, highlighting the transparency and the intricate details of the cut glass.
